Discover the living world of the rainforest as you observe the birds, frogs, insects, monkeys, snakes and other reptiles and a surprising collection of mammals. Stunted trees! Creepy bushes! From the outside you wouldn't know that at Beaumont, Texas, the Wildlife Biology Institute is the only zoological institution of its kind in the U.S. Founded on the site of a World War II training base for an elite military force, it's also one of the top rehabilitation centers for endangered and at-risk species. Instead of school and play, students (and staff) get a different experience at the Wildlife Biology Institute: learning about life in the field. They can also touch, feed and handle mammals (and birds!), and they can work with real-life animals. Maintaining the site is just one challenge: the Institute also educates and trains people to work with captive wildlife. 2) on the backside of the "Rose", at the bottom of the cross notched out, take a special pen (i am using U.S. Bullet) and carefully draw out the centerline of the page, cutting the binding ends with that line. Once done you should be able to remove the page from the binding easily. 3) take the
