For the first time, play makers are left to create and design their own game with this technology. All movements are processed in real-time on the new artificial intelligence system, providing feedback in real-time, during gameplay and even on the pitch. The Artificial Intelligence of the FUT Online players rivals that of human players, granting access to true-to-life coaching and the most accurate scoring situations, including free kicks, penalties, corner kicks, and goal kicks. "They say that the fastest way to learn is by doing. Today, the video game industry exemplifies this mantra, with game developers trying to take gaming mainstream and challenge the status quo. It is with this in mind that we have come together as a community," said Craig Shelton, FIFA 20 Executive Producer. "The FIFA community has been vocal about their wants and expectations and we at EA/DICE know we must not only deliver on what they are expecting, but what they want to see in the game. This is a huge undertaking, but it is one we are confident we can accomplish."

For the first time in franchise history, all pre-game and game preparation will be completed in a new interactive and immersive FIFA world. You will not simply watch a video, but actively work through your pre-game preparation, understand how to work with teammates, understand the opposition, analyze your strengths and weaknesses, and ultimately, to create a game plan with all the key elements of the opposition in mind. "FIFA is one of the most iconic brands in the world and we are proud to be delivering an authentic-feeling game to the fans that will live up to its name," said Josef Farkas, Executive Director, EA SPORTS FIFA. "The eSports market is growing in explosive fashion and we're proud to be bringing more players closer to the action through the EA SPORTS FIFA franchise with the introduction of the "Bring Your Game" initiatives."
